

Welcome to Film Career.com!

Contributed by Stuart

Glad you found our site! Film Career.com is the online source for film career related information unless you already gathered that much. Just with the creators of this site we have over 20 years of film industry experience, all this knowledge right at your fingertips.

One thing I have come to understand is that information about the film industry, and the careers involved with it are pretty mysterious to those not in it. Heck I remember how confusing it all was to me back when I first moved to Los Angeles in hopes of turning my dreams into a reality by working in the movies! My goal, and the goal of those who have produced this site is to take away the mystery, and uncover the truth about how kick ass the film industry is.

What is in it for us you might ask? Well skipper, the truth is there is a very limited supply of top quality employees of the film machine. I want to make the information available to not only the spoiled rich kids parents in L.A. (no offence) but to those who really have the passion and guts to succeed in the film industry.

Better information = Better informed people = MO MONEY and less stress and BETTER MOVIES! Film Career
Upcoming Features!

- Exclusive articles from industry professionals.
- In depth looks into different film related careers.
- Uncovering the mystery of getting a job!
- Collections of links to other helpful sites.
- Syndication of all the top film related RSS feeds.
- COMING SOON- Discussion forum.
- COMING SOON- Production Assistant Quiz.